

RECYCLING FOR MULTI-FAMILY NEIGHBORHOODS SET TO BEGIN

The City of Winter Haven Curbside Recycling will soon be offered to the more than 4,400 multi-family residences in Winter Haven.

Implementation of the program will be divided into two phases. The first phase will begin June 3, 2009, and will be offered where individual households in multi-family developments have established utility bills with the City of Winter Haven.

Phase II of the program, involving multi-family developments where a master utility bill has been established with the City of Winter Haven, will start at a later date.

Residents will be notified of the exact date that recycling will begin in their neighborhood when door hangars and/or recycling containers are delivered to their doorsteps. Notification will also be sent to property managers and community meetings will be planned.

Since residential curbside recycling was started Nov. 17, 2007, for single-family properties in Winter Haven, almost 1,600 tons of materials did not end up in the landfill, but were recycled instead.
